1. Q: What does it mean to be exempt or non-exempt under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA)?

A: The federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) regulates whether an employee is overtime-eligible (“non-exempt”) or overtime-exempt (“exempt”). Most employees covered by the FLSA must be paid at least the minimum wage and premium pay for any hours they work beyond 40 in a workweek. The minimum wage for California is currently $11 per hour for employers with 25 or fewer employees and $12 per hour for employers with 26 or more employees. Some localities have adopted higher minimum wages. The FLSA does, however, exempt certain kinds of covered employees from the minimum wage and overtime requirements, including bona fide executive, administrative, and professional employees. To qualify for one of the executive, administrative or professional exemptions, an employee must be paid a predetermined salary that is above a certain amount and meet the applicable duties test.

2. Q: Why is UC changing my FLSA status from exempt to non-exempt and overtime eligible?

A: Currently, most employees who are classified as overtime-exempt must earn at least $455 per week (equivalent to $24,660 per year for a full-year worker), according to the FLSA. Beginning January 1, 2020, to qualify for the executive, administrative or professional exemption, the FLSA requires that an employee earn no less than $684 per week (equivalent to $35,568 per year for a full-year worker). To comply with this new overtime rule, the University of California has reviewed your position and salary and reclassified you as overtime-eligible.

3. Q: As a non-exempt employee, when am I entitled to overtime?

A: Non-exempt, overtime-eligible employees must be paid no less than the minimum wage and a premium rate for any hours worked beyond 40 in a workweek. Hospitals are permitted to base FLSA overtime eligibility on either 40 hours in a workweek or 80 hours in a 14-consecutive day work period (the 8/80 option). If the University requires or permits an employee to work overtime, then it is generally required to pay the employee premium pay for such overtime work.

4. Q: Now that I am a non-exempt, overtime-eligible employee, why am I required to record the number of hours I work each day?

A: The FLSA requires the University to keep certain records for each non-exempt, overtime-eligible employee, including records of the number of hours worked each day and the amount of wages earned. Talk to your manager or supervisor about local time reporting requirements.

5. Q: I am currently paid monthly. Will I convert to the biweekly pay schedule?

A: If you are re-classified as a non-exempt employee and eligible for overtime, your pay period will change from monthly to biweekly.

6. Q: When will the change from a monthly pay schedule to a biweekly pay schedule take effect?

A: The new non-exempt, overtime-eligible employees will transition to the biweekly pay schedule no later than 12/29/19.

Here are examples of the specific pay dates for biweekly pay starting 12/29/19:

- 1/2/2020: Last monthly paycheck prorated for work performed between 12/1/2019 through 12/28/2019, full benefits deduction for December.
- 1/22/2020: First paycheck for biweekly period of 12/29/2019 through 1/11/2020, first ½ of January benefits deductions.
- 2/5/2020: Paycheck for biweekly period of 1/12/2020 through 1/25/2020, second

½ of January benefits deductions.

7. Q: Where can I find the biweekly pay schedule?

A: The UC ANR Business Operations Center, anrpayroll@ucanr.edu, can provide you with biweekly payroll schedule calendars. Biweekly payroll schedule calendars may also be accessed through the UCPATH Portal (click on “Quicklinks” from the Dashboard).

8. Q: How many biweekly pay periods are there in a calendar year?

A: You will receive a minimum of 26 and a maximum of 27 paychecks in a year. Because biweekly periods do not always line up exactly to the calendar year, there is often a biweekly pay period that crosses over from December to January. As a result, the gross pay reported on an annual W-2 tax form may not exactly match your annualized pay rate, and occasionally there will be 27 periods in one year.

9. Q: How is my hourly rate determined?

A: Salary scales, including hourly rates, for academic appointees can be found here: <https://www.ucop.edu/academic-personnel-programs/compensation/2019-20-academic-salary-scales.html>.

If your hourly rate is not listed in the link, there are two methods you can use to calculate your hourly rate (based on a 40-hour workweek):

- Method 1: Take your monthly salary rate and divide by 174 (the average number of working hours in a month). For example, if your monthly salary is $3250.00 per month: $$3250.00 \div 174 = \18.68 per hour.
- Method 2: Take your annual salary and divide it by 2088 (the number of working hours in a year). For example, if your annual salary rate is $39,000.00 per year: $$39,000.00 \div 2088 = \18.68 per hour.

10. Q: What should I do to prepare for the change?

A: It is important that you review your personal budget situation and determine your income needs based on the new biweekly pay schedule. In preparation for the conversion, we suggest that you take the following steps:

- Review your current tax withholding elections and make any necessary changes. Pay particular attention to additional tax withholding amounts.
- Review your current voluntary contributions to your 403(b) and 457(b) plans.
- If appropriate, request that third-parties adjust your automatic withdrawal or bill-pay dates to align with your new pay schedule.

Frequently Asked Questions

Payroll Transition for New Overtime-Eligible Employees

11. Q: Will I need to make any changes to my direct deposit?

A: No.

12. Q: What is a Deduction Holiday? How will my deductions be calculated?

A: A deduction holiday occurs when there are three biweekly pay periods in a month. During a deduction holiday, no flat-dollar deductions are taken from pay; only percent-based deductions are taken. Typically, deduction holidays occur twice a year, based on pay period end date. Pay dates with deduction holidays can be found on the biweekly pay schedule calendars.

13. Q: I have a garnishment deduction. How will the transition to biweekly pay affect the amount deducted for my garnishment?

A: If the garnishment deduction is calculated as a percentage of your earnings, a deduction will occur each pay period, up to the maximum deduction allowed based on federal and state regulations. For example, if your garnishment deduction is 25 percent of your pay, that amount will be deducted each payday.

If the garnishment deduction is a fixed amount, the amount will be recalculated to a biweekly amount. That calculation is then divided into two payments. For example, a monthly $250 garnishment payment will become $125, deducted during each biweekly paycheck.

14. Q: I contribute to my 403(b) and 457(b) plans. When will my contributions be taken?

A: Percentage deduction: If you set up your contributions as a percentage deduction, the percentage amount will be taken each paycheck (26 times a year). For example, if your current 403(b) contribution is 5 percent per month, a 5 percent contribution will be made each biweekly payday.

Flat Dollar deduction: If you set up your contributions as a fixed flat dollar amount, the flat dollar amount will be split in half, and one-half will be withheld per biweekly payday. For example, if your current 403(b) contribution is $100.00 per month, it will be divided into a $50.00 contribution each biweekly payday. For months with three paychecks, one paycheck will have no fixed flat dollar deductions taken.

15. Q: What if I pay some of my bills through automatic bill pay?

Frequently Asked Questions

Payroll Transition for New Overtime-Eligible Employees

A: If you have automatic bill pay set up for any regular expenses, such as mortgage payments, student loan payments or car payments, we encourage you to work directly with your financial institution(s) to change payment dates as needed. As a biweekly employee, your pay dates vary since you are paid every other Wednesday.

16. Q: Will I need to make any changes to my tax withholding?

A: If you have an additional tax amount deducted from your paycheck, that monthly amount will be split in half, and one-half will be withheld from each biweekly check. If you would like to adjust your additional withholding amount, please go to UC Path and review and/or update your W-4/DE-4 Form. For other tax questions, please consult IRS and State Franchise Tax Board websites or contact a tax professional for help. For other tax questions, please consult IRS (<https://www.irs.gov/>) and State Franchise Tax Board (for California: <https://www.ftb.ca.gov/>) websites or contact a tax professional for help.

17. Q: Who should I contact if I have questions regarding my FLSA classification or the biweekly pay cycle conversion?

A: If you have questions for which you need immediate assistance, please contact your supervisor or Academic HR Manager, Tina Jordan.
