“Shasta District Fair - Then and Now”

Recently while sorting through some old papers, a summary of the 1960 Shasta District Fair (SDF) Jr Livestock Auction surfaced. Table A outlines the details associated with the steers, lambs and hogs.

Table A. 1960 SDF

Species	No	Wt	SDF $/lb	Total/hd	Resale $/lb	Total/hd	Amount Rec. over mkt
Beef	70	1095	$0.34	$371	$0.25	$274	$97	1.35*mkt
Lamb	96	87	$0.56	$49	$0.18	$34	$34	5.3*mkt
Hog	13	202	$0.49	$99	$0.20	$60	$60	2.5*mkt

The livestock buyers at the 1960 SDF paid more than market price for the steers, lambs and hogs. Steer, lamb and hog exhibitors sold their animals for 1.35, 5.3 and 2.5 times the market price.

The 2021 Shasta District Fair Jr Livestock Auction was a record sale. The generosity of the buyers was overwhelming. Table B outlines the details associated with the steers, lambs and hogs that sold.

Table B. 2021 SDF

Species	No	Wt	SDF $/lb	Total/hd	Resale $/lb	Total/hd	Amount Rec. over mkt
Beef	65	1275	$9.03	$11,513	$0.94	$1199	$10,315	9.6*mkt
Lamb	99	135	$25.29	$3414	$162	$162	$3252	21.1*mkt
Hog	254	270	$17.17	$4636	$184	$184	$4452	25.2*mkt

Similar to 1960, the livestock buyers at the 2021 SDF paid more than market price for the steers, lambs and hogs. What changed is the amount over market price that the buyers were willing to pay for these animals. In 2021, steer, lamb and hog exhibitors sold their animals for 9.6, 21.1 and 25.2 times the market price. Don't forget to thank your buyer for their investment in you!

Have steer, lamb and hog market prices kept up with inflation?

Using an online inflation calculator, resale prices were adjusted to 2021 values. Figure A shows that the market value of finished steers, lambs and hogs has not kept up with inflation.

The market price of steers in 2021 would need to be $2.32/lb to keep up with the inflation that has occurred since 1960. This is a significant problem in the livestock industry. The cost of production has increased (consider the cost of a new pick-up), yet the price of finished steers being sold in 2021 has only 40% of the buying power seen in 1960. Hogs are worse than that - a finished market hog sold today has only 36% of the purchasing power of the money received for a that same hog in 1960.
